ASPHALT CRACK SEALANT

The most severe problem with aging pavement is cracking. As pavement ages, it shrinks, hardens, and becomes brittle. Cracks form due to thermal expansion, aging, base degradation, and reflection of cracks from underlying layers. Hot-applied, rubberized asphalt crack sealants are designed to seal these cracks and minimize water penetration into the base below the pavement.

MASTIC PATCH

Gap products are designed for use in wide cracks, small patch jobs, or depressions around drains and curbs where the hot mix is impractical, and crack sealants are ineffective. Combining high-performance, hot-pour sealants, and engineered aggregates forms a flexible, permanent repair.
